Why Japan?

Japan counts for roughly 25% of the Asian PPE market. Moreover, market projections forecast an annual growth rate of 8%, resulting in an expected market volume of 2.85 billion euro in 2020. Factors include:

- ▶ Japan's aging population and its increasing number of elderly workers, who depend on the PPE industry to make adjustments that correspond to industrial safety measures and products
- ▶ Japan's strict OSH regulations and the country's long history of safety and quality control
- ▶ The 12th Program for occupational safety (in 2013), which prioritizes safety and the health of workers
